TIPS

Essays are extremely important in scholarship applications. Spend a lot of time on formulating strong essays in the beginning, and have someone proofread them. You can then reuse the same essays for many applications, making minor changes where needed.

Local scholarships aren't always advertised on scholarship sites. Your local library, family, and school are great places to find scholarships too.

Don't overlook scholarships for small amounts of money. Less people will apply, and small scholarships can add up to lots of money in the end.
